

Double Digit Growth in Impressions and Revenues for Simply Be

Simply Be is a digital-first retailer who specialise in plus-size women's fashion. The retailer have been a market leader for over a decade, "bringing fashion to all, regardless of size".

Simply Be were looking to improve performance on their existing search campaigns, with a particular focus on the Swimwear and Lingerie categories. The online retailer utilized Adthena to gain a better understanding of their current position in the market, for ad copy insights, and to generate a better return-on-ad-spend (ROAS) from their search campaigns.

Key Results

Simply Be's campaign was conducted in collaboration with the global media agency CARAT.

The Challenge

Simply Be were looking to expand their search presence in the Swimwear and Lingerie categories. To do this they needed to quantify how they were performing in search relative to their closest competitors, and to gain an understanding of their competitors' bidding strategies. This would allow them to gauge how much growth potential remained in the lingerie market.

Simply Be hoped to capitalize on these insights, and to use Adthena's Search Term Opportunities to ensure strong coverage across each of these categories. Adthena's ad copy analysis and insights could then be used to help Simply Be craft the most compelling ad copy, enabling them to the beat deals and promotions of their closest competitors.

The Solution

Simply Be analysed Adthena's daily Google Shopping trend data to gain an understanding of the competitive landscape. They also monitored month-on-month market share, and benefited from Adthena's automated segmentation capabilities via Deep Learned Groups. To help develop the most effective ad copy, they utilized Adthena's Top Ads feature to gain insights on which ads were performing best in the space, and tuned the ad copy of their own campaigns so that it would resonate better with customers.

Simply Be were able to gain insights that informed new testing strategies, and helped them capitalize on large gaps in the market. In addition, over 1000 new keywords were added to their campaigns, and the overall result was an impressive 11% increase in share of impressions. As a result of fine-tuning their ad copy, Simply Be experienced a 27% improvement to their CTRs in Swimwear and Lingerie categories.
